Steve approaches a project from what is practical, affordable and sustainable. He specializes in projects with short timelines, complicated renovations and large scale projects requiring complex organization and planning. His experience in custom equipment fabrication, refrigeration systems and millwork construction has been applied to a variety of projects in diverse markets such as education, hospitality, gaming, and business and industry.

Steve has worked in foodservice facilities planning since 1982, and is a very thorough design and customer service oriented project manager with many long-term client relationships. His combination of creativity and sensibility is illustrated through his attention to detail and concern for quality. His extensive industry knowledge is the basis for providing successful designs specific to each project.
